

procedures for loan mobilization and permissions. Further, companies should have continued interest for engaging in circular economy, and have products coherent with circular economy policies (the Extended Producer Responsibility as example).